Urban Nations Outreach Internship
Basic Information

What Is An Urban Nations Outreach Internship?

An Urban Nations Outreach Internship is a special urban leadership training program with emphasis on evangelism, ministering to Muslims (and other unreached people groups), and church planting. The intern will experience daily life in New York City, and have constant exposure and contact with immigrants from South Asia, West Africa, and the Middle East. The internship provides daily opportunities for students to work with one or several of these different “unreached people groups” who have immigrated to New York City. Besides the daily contact with our predominantly Muslim focus groups, the intern is introduced to many different learning situations—in leadership, teaching, personal and group evangelism, cross-cultural church planting, strategy development, apologetics, acculturation, etc.

The Urban Nations Outreach Internship is especially suited for students who are headed for urban ministry in pioneer areas... or for those who plan to serve in the “10/40 Window” on the foreign mission field.

An Urban Nations Outreach internship helps prepare the student in three primary ways. It enables the intern to:

1. GAIN MINISTRY EXPERIENCE & TRAINING...The internship provides hands-on experience and training which prepares the student for future ministry in urban or international settings.
2. EARN SEMINARY OR COLLEGE CREDIT...The internship satisfies most seminary or college internship course requirements. The intern’s professor or Dean will work with the UNO Director to make sure the requirements are fulfilled.
3. BE EXPOSED TO UNREACHED PEOPLE GROUPS...The internship exposes the student to newly arrived immigrants from the “10/40 Window” and helps Urban Nations Outreach minister to these peoples in an American context.

The intern will grow in knowledge and understanding of missions and urban ministry. The internship gives the student a taste of “living in a foreign country” and it emulates many aspects of what a new missionary will experience during his initial months on the foreign mission field. The internship also allows the intern to experience urban ministry situations and conditions that would not be possible in the classroom or suburban church setting.

Time/Length of Internship

- Summer Intern— Four to Twelve weeks between May and August
- Semester Intern—September through mid-December or January through mid-May

The Intern will develop strong evangelistic relationships with New York immigrants who are a part of his/her people group. The student will spend time with them, help meet their immigrant needs, and be willing to share the Gospel and disciple new converts.

What Urban Nations Outreach Provides

- Housing Assistance –The intern will share a very simple, dorm-style, bedroom in one of our missionary apartments in the immigrant neighborhoods of Queens or Brooklyn. Non-married interns share a room with other UNO interns and pay $400 per month for housing (this is very inexpensive by New York standards). Married housing is usually not available in Urban Nations Outreach apartments, but sometimes there is availability and may be secured on a case-by case basis.
- Structured Ministry—The intern will be assigned a weekly schedule with responsibilities and goals which are explained beforehand and assessed on a weekly basis.
- Training –Urban Nations Outreach interns participate in a multi-day orientation period upon their arrival. But most of your training will be "as you go training". While in New York, interns may have opportunities to attend several training events such as ESL teacher training, apologetics training, church planting workshops, or evangelism training events.
- Supervision—Each intern is closely supervised and nurtured by one of our well-trained Urban Nations Outreach Staff with weekly supervisor/planning/encouragement meetings.
